Tools for Employers: Choosing a Dental Benefits Plan for Employees

Why should my company offer an employee dental benefits plan?

1. Dental benefits are highly sought after and valued by employees
2. Helps to attract and retain employees
3. Helps employees maintain good oral health, which is essential to maintaining good overall health
4. Cuts down absenteeism due to employees staying home with dental related problems
5. Chance to be a hero to your employees at no cost to your company. Voluntary benefit.
6. Helps employees save money on their dental needs

Keeping your employees' smiles healthy keeps workers productive and can even lower medical care costs. This means finding a high-quality dental plan that has benefits to both employees and employers. An Employer-Sponsored Group Plan is the most cost-effective way to offer a dental benefit plan to employees. When the benefit is offered as a voluntary benefit, the cost of the plan is paid for by the employee, at no cost to the employer.

Benefits to the Employer

Offering a voluntary dental plan benefit to employees can provide several advantages to an employer, including:

Attracting and Retaining Talent

Offering a voluntary dental plan can make a company more attractive to potential hires and help retain existing employees. It shows that the company values employee well-being and provides benefits that enhance work-life balance.

Cost Effective

Since dental plans are often voluntary (meaning employees typically pay for the plan themselves), the employer doesn't bear any financial responsibility, but allows the employer to provide a valuable perk.

Improved Employee Health and Productivity

Good oral health is linked to overall health, and offering a voluntary dental plan encourages employees to take preventive care of their teeth. This can reduce absenteeism caused by dental issues or other health problems linked to poor oral hygiene, potentially leading to higher productivity.

Enhanced Employee Satisfaction and Engagement

Employees are more likely to be satisfied and engaged if they feel their employer is supporting their overall health. Voluntary benefits, like a dental, can increase loyalty and improve morale, fostering a positive work environment.

Minimal Administrative Effort

The Island Smiles Discount Dental Plan is relatively easy to administer. The program is set up on payroll deduction, and payment is remitted to Paradise Dental Spa monthly, with a list of employees enrolled in the Plan. An ACH form is attached if direct deposit is the preferred method of payment. If paying by check, please make checks payable to Island Smiles Dental Plan.

Improved Employee Retention

Offering a voluntary dental plan is one way to demonstrate that an employer cares about their employees' overall well-being, which can lead to improved retention rates. Employeees are more likely to stay with a company that invests in their health.

Overall, voluntary dental plans help balance cost savings for employees while providing valuable health benefits that contribute to employee satisfaction, retention, and productivity.
